

To whom it may concern,
Please keep the no-call list. Before it, we were receiving calls frequently. It was interrupting bed-time routines and family time with our children. We are not more likely to buy any product from an annoying phone call. In fact, we are likely to stop doing business all together with any company that inturrupts time we spend with family.

Thank you for your consideration.

Jodi Mikulsky